Hallie Thompson began volunteering with Heart to Heart International at the start of the COVID-19 pandemic. In 2020, she dedicated countless hours of her time providing medical care for homeless populations and deploying to Honduras to help people in need after hurricanes Eta and Iota.
Dear Friend,

2020 has been a year unlike any other, and we have been inspired by the commitment and generosity of donors. You never wavered in your determination to help the record number of people in need throughout the world this year!

We cannot deny the effects of COVID-19. The devastation caused by the pandemic has highlighted the importance of healthcare access for people across the United States and around the world. We recognized this and committed our expertise and resources to helping prevent the spread of the disease in the most vulnerable communities, including homeless populations, nursing homes, healthcare facilities, schools and child care centers.

To protect frontline healthcare workers, we delivered 1.8 million pieces of PPE items to hospitals, healthcare clinics, pharmacies, and more. Because infection prevention and good hygiene were critical, especially in vulnerable communities, we distributed 144,000 hygiene kits through partnerships with food banks, public safety organizations, homeless assistance groups and other nonprofit organizations. We provided free COVID-19 tests, leveraging the trust of community partners to reach vulnerable populations who were otherwise unable or unwilling to access testing. We also responded to multiple disasters in the United States and the world, including tornadoes, hurricanes and wildfires. Our medical teams treated more than 2,700 patients after disasters and crises this year alone.

Thanks to you, we continue to improve access to healthcare after disasters and all year round. Together, we are working toward a vision of a world in which every person has access to a healthy life and every community has the capacity to make that access a reality. On behalf of those we serve, thank you for making Heart to Heart International your connection to a world in need.

With heartfelt gratitude,

Remote Treatment After Hurricanes

A Heart to Heart International medical team deployed to remote communities in Honduras after hurricanes Eta and Iota. The storms had dumped feet of rain in the region and caused massive flooding. One man’s home was washed out and he had to use a boat to get from place to place. The boat got stuck and when he jumped out to free it, the man sliced his finger open on some unseen barbed wire below the water line. The cut was badly infected by the time he reached the HHI medical team. The doctors and nurses cleaned the wound and treated it to ensure the infection would not spread. Injuries like these are common in the aftermath of storms and are one of the reasons HHI works so hard to bring healthcare to remote communities after disasters.

A Brighter Future

After being evicted from their home, Igor and his wife began living in a makeshift campground. This meant the couple, who are both in their 70s, were left exposed to the heat in summer and the rain in spring. On cold fall and winter mornings, their only source of heat was a campfire.

Igor began experiencing tremendous pain and had trouble even walking. On one freezing day, despite being in immense pain, Igor made his way to see our Heart to Heart International medical team, which had been providing medical care for the homeless community since the start of the COVID-19 pandemic.

The team discovered a massive hernia and arranged for Igor to be transported immediately to a hospital for surgery. Later in the week, Igor was released and returned to the clinic determined to share his message of thanks.

“Before, I was hurting so much. I felt hopeless - like I had no future. Now, because of you, I am feeling so much better. I know there is a future for me. Thank you.”
